COMMUNITY JUSTICE WORKER PROGRAM

OUR VISION

Expanding access to justice requires innovation. Partnering across legal, social services, medical, and information providers to address the legal needs that people face is key to closing the justice gap.

ALSC believes that individuals and community leaders are an invaluable resource--and that those leaders are committed to assisting members of their community.

ALSC is providing online trainings for those interested in assisting with legal topics that greatly affect low-income Alaskans. Once trained, Community Justice Workers help clients resolve their legal issues with the full support of ALSC.
